

Communication Matters

Testimonials

My son was fortunate enough to attend "CAMP COMMUNICATE '09", but what I didn't realize was that my son desperately needed a constant flow of information and enrichment to keep him regulated. There were plenty of interesting projects and an ever present and interested crew of college kids engaging the campers and rewarding them for targeted behavior. I knew he would be exposed to Michelle Garcia Winner's social thinking format, but I didn't realize just how valuable SUPERFLEX would be in helping my son get ready to take on the next grade. My son has always had certain issues regarding his clothing that I thought he would have all his life. He gets comfortable with a certain piece of clothing and you can't get him out of it. He always wore jeans and a white t-shirt, but with temperatures hitting triple digits I was able to reach him using SUPERFLEX terminology and my son wore shorts to school last week. (No battles, no tears or time outs, just a little coaxing using a new vocabulary courtesy of Camp Communicate.) But, better yet, he knows he can do it. He's gained confidence to take on the next challenge. The flexibility was most apparent in his clothing, but he's also more flexible all through the day. Things that used to trip him up and get him stuck, he's now able to move past without the frustration overwhelming him. This is week 3 of 2nd grade and this is his best year yet. His reading has improved dramatically and he's doing much better with his phonetic awareness, and his reading cadence is a lot more natural too. I believe all this progress is due to the Fast ForWord program he worked on this summer at Camp Communicate. I can't say enough about the great people at Communication Matters, they're a dedicated staff, who truly enjoy their work and why not- they're making differences in people's lives every day! BRAVO you guys!

"Thank you for all your support this year. If I ever have an opportunity to recommend private speech therapy to someone, your organization will be top of my list!"

"Finally – I'm starting to feel like there is hope and I can get him the help he needs and that's because I've finally found someone who can help me through this. Someone who knows what's needed and can explain it to me! That is you. Thanks!"

"Cody was chosen by his teachers to deliver a speech at 5th grade culmination on Thursday. Kudos to you my friend. Thank you for all you did for Cody."

"Your camp program is extremely fulfilling. Mike's pipe is full if you will. He still has some stimming in the evenings but there's such a huge difference. He's just processing away and learning like a sponge. When he would return from school I could tell he wasn't receiving all he needed. Too much energy."

needed too much direct input. Lots of stimming. Incredibly frustrating for a mom to see but not be able to fix. Now, he is getting what he needs. That boy is wiped out at the end of the day. It's great to see. I love it! Great work to you and your team!
